Continuation of 3. NOTE: the amendment to claim 5 would raise new issues, because the amendment to have the last three lines read "... for forming a protective layer for a subsequent gas sensor electrode to frem said subsequent protective layer to a desired thickness" would mean that "said subsequent protective layer" lacks antecedent basis as the term "a subsequent protective layer" earlier has been replaced with "a protective layer"...

Continuation of 11. does NOT place the application in condition for allowance because: (1) as to the argument that the finality was premature, the Examiner disagrees. As discussed in paragraph 8 of the Final Rejection, the references were added to the rejection directly because of the new wording of the claims. While the claims may previously have been rejected under 35 USC 112, the specific changes made by applicant were decided by applicant and they changed the specific requirements of the claims, and this had to be responded to in the next Office Action by the Examiner. (2) as the the 35 USC 112 rejection, the proposed amendment has not been entered, and as applicant's arguments are directed to the claims as proposed to be amended, the Final Rejection stands for the reasons given in the Final Rejection. (3) As to the arguments against the 35 USC 103 rejection, applicant argues features of '214, '562, Friese and Yamada and that one would not be motivated to modify, for example '214 in view of '562. The Examiner has reviewed these arguments, however, the rejection is maintained. The primary reference is to "the admitted state of the prior art" as discussed in the Final Rejection, and thus, the modification is done based on this primary reference. Applicant has provided no discussion of the teachings of the admitted state of the prior art or why it would not be suggested to modify its teachings base on the other cited references. As discussed at pages 7-9 of the Final Rejection, it is the Examiner's position that one would modify the admitted state of the prior art based on the teachings of the cited art.
